

Programming and systems software for the BTM HEC computers and the BTM / ICT 1200 series.

In the early 1950s computer manufacturers provided very little systems software for their products, apart from a simple Assembler. No relevant programming manuals for the BTM 1200 series computers have thus far come to light. There is a need for further research in this area.